

An Introduction to FAR OUT TOYS

Far Out Toys Inc. is a rapidly growing force in the global toy marketplace founded on the principles of innovation and the creation of new toys and intellectual properties brought to fruition through partnerships with the most extensive inventor network. Led by CEO and toy industry veteran Keith Meggs, the team brings a new level of engagement and excitement to the industry with a comprehensive approach that includes promotion of new brands with original content and rapidly scaling marketing and content production capabilities. This approach, in combination with its sales team for domestic and international markets, delivers innovative product lines in key areas of expertise including games, vehicles, boys' action, girls' activities and more. In 2019, Far Out Toys will introduce an aggressive line-up of new brands with original IP including Drone Slayer, Pulp Heroes, Crash Racers, Far Out Squire and Crazy Critters Games. In addition, the team is partnering with major licensors including the massively popular Ryan ToysReview YouTube channel to offer Ryan's World versions of its water play items Splash Out and Head Splat. For more information on Far Out Toys, visit www.farouttoysinc.com.

Far Out Toys is currently seeking highly motivated and experienced candidates for the position of Operation Planning Manager for our El Segundo office location. Details of the position are as follows.

TO APPLY: Please send a resume and cover letter to news@farouttoysinc.com

OPERATIONS PLANNING MANAGER:

- Develop systems and methods for the planning and management of production.
- Manage day-to-day account sales orders from all countries including USA and International accounts.
- Interface with account buyers and various EDI systems to process and manage incoming orders.
- Interface with sales and marketing team to generate ongoing demand forecasting for operational planning.
- Consolidate account orders and provide reporting and coordination with our factory order planning team in China.
- Maintain calendar tracking and production planning timeline reporting.
- Coordinate activities associated with product shipments, customs and receiving.
- Assist staff in preparing operational presentations and sales updates.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- 5+ years of general office experience in manufacturing planning, trading company, shipping or customs brokerage environment.
- Ability to communicate clearly and effectively with excellent follow through, both written and verbal, with co-workers, factory and clients.
- Working knowledge of all operational systems such as EDI, Great Plains and SAP.
- Chinese language skills a plus but not required.